Diagnosis: Future Rock Star!

Pittsburgh, PA, June 27, 2016 – A rock event of a lifetime for Pittsburgh doctors and healthcare professionals! You can perform live and onstage with real rock legends while helping those touched by cancer in your community.

For the first time in Pittsburgh history, if you are a local doctor or healthcare professional, you can jam, rehearse and perform live along with members from Guns N' Roses, Alice Cooper, Joe Walsh, Crosby Stills Nash & Young, The Monkees, Billy Squier and Black Label Society. Then enjoy an all-star performance featuring Lou Gramm, the original voice of Foreigner.

Take off your scrubs! Put down your scalpel! Finish your office hours and pick up your guitar! There is no audition required. Whether you are a beginner or an expert, no matter what instrument you play, you can play an important role! Spots are extremely limited.

Get your department involved: Your co-workers, your team are your biggest fans!

By a single registration, you can make it possible for Our Clubhouse to support one of the following:

- 2 members for a year
- 12 support group sessions
- 40 kids for a week of summer camp
- 60 nutrition workshops
- 125 yoga classes

Honorary co-chairs for this fundraising event for Our Clubhouse are Dr. David Parada, Professor and System Chair, who is a local radiation oncologist practicing at Allegheny General Hospital and Forbes Regional Hospital; and Dr. John Kirkwood, Usher Professor of Medicine Dermatology & Translational Science for the University of Pittsburgh Cancer Institute Hillman, and Director of the Melanoma Center at UPMC Cancer Center.

You and a guest will be part of an exclusive opening reception and private jam session the evening of October 25, 2016. You will practice and learn from the best in the business during the day on October 26, 2016. You and a guest will have VIP passes to the main event open to the public.

Docs That Rock is being held at Stage AE on the North Shore, October 26, 2016. To register call 855-4-DOCROCK or visit docsthatrock.org and click on "Perform Live!" Proceeds go to Our Clubhouse.
